Advance Notice of Discontinuing Revisions of Flash Development Toolkit

We are going to discontinue the further revisions of Flash Development Toolkit in September 2013.

1. Description

We are discontinuing the further revisions of Flash Development Toolkit after two scheduled revisions have been carried out. For the schedules, see Section 2.

Note, however, that we provide the following services:

- (1) Technical support for the commercial edition of Flash Development Toolkit is continued.
- (2) Newly developed MCUs are supported by Renesas Flash Programmer.
- (3) The host OSes with which the revised products are compatible are as follows (the same as those for Flash Development Toolkit V.4.08 Release 02):
 - 32- and 64-bit editions of Windows 7
 - 32-bit edition of Windows Vista
 - 32-bit edition of Windows XP

2. Schedules of Further Revisions

We are going to carry out two remaining revisions as follows:

- (1) Revision to Flash Development Toolkit V.4.09 Release 00
To be published: End of January 2013
Description of revision: Supported MCUs increased
- (2) Revision to Flash Development Toolkit V.4.09 Release 01
To be published: End of September 2013
Description of revision: Supported MCUs increased

NOTICE: The above schedules are subject to change without notice.
