Development Assistance Tool for Capacitive Touch Sensors

QE for Capacitive Touch V3.2.0

Outline

QE for Capacitive Touch, a development assistance tool for capacitive touch sensors, has been updated from V3.1.0 to V3.2.0.

1. Description

The following sections cover the main enhancements. For details and how to install the product, see the release note at the link below.

1.1 Addition of Supported Devices

- The following group is now supported.

RL78 Family: RL78/G22 group

1.2 Renewal of the Plug-in Edition Main View

To open the main view, select the e² studio menu, [Renesas Views], [Renesas QE], and [CapTouch Workflow (QE)]. There are two types of main view.

When the main view is opened for the first time, a detailed guide appears (Figure 1: containing guidance and tutorial videos). When the view is narrowed, a simple guide appears (Figure 2). Changing the width toggles between these view guides.

1.3 Int8-quantization of AI Models Used in 3D Gesture

Calculations in AI models can be int8-quantized, which will help reduce ROM/RAM sizes and improve processing speed.

To enable int8-quantization, select [Start AI Training]. In the [Gesture Training] dialogue box, click [Setting] to open [Training Setting]. In the [Training Setting] dialogue box, click the [Neural Network Setting] tab, and then enable [Size First (Quantized)] in [Neural Network Selection].

When [Size First (Quantized)] is enabled, recognition might be less precise due to int8-quantization of calculations in AI models. Check the precision with the generated AI.

2. Operating Environment

- e² studio Integrated Development Environment 2022-10 or later

For how to use QE for Capacitive Touch, select [Help] in e² studio, and then see [QE].

3. Installing the Product
