the High-performance Embedded Workshop V.4

Please take note of the following problem in using the High-performance Embedded Workshop V.4, an integrated development environment:

- On the AutoUpdate utility

   If the download of the update program of any software product is cancelled on the way in the AutoUpdate wizard, the update program may not properly update the software product when downloaded next time, resulting in the following error message being displayed in the Installing Updates window:

   Error message displayed:

   > "%1 is not a valid Win32 application." or
   > "The process cannot access the file because it is being used by another process."

3. Condition
